Notes in Parliament.

During the reign of King John (1199) the king agreed to settle the difficulty with Philip II. of France respecting the Duchy of Normandy by single combat. John, earl of Fletor, was the English champion, and as soon as he appeared on the field of combat his adversary put spurs to his horse and died, leaving the earl master of the field. King John asked the earl what his reward should be. "Titles and land I want not," he replied, "but in remembrance of this day I beg the boon, for myself and my successors, to remain covered in the presence of your majesty and all other sovereigns of this realm." This request was granted and never revoked, and it is said to account for the custom in parliament of members wearing their hats.—London Standard.

Webster as a Farmer.

Webster was a scientific farmer. He believed thoroughly in the value of blooded stock. At Marshfield he had a herd of sixty or eighty head of cattle composed entirely of thoroughbred animals—Ayrshires, Ayrshires and Defons. He had several yoke of Devon oxen, which were his particular pride. Besides, there were Dicksel sheep and swine. All in all, Webster was considered by his neighbors the best farmer of the county. He was, moreover, a friend of generous and noble. There used to be a saying down Plymouth way that a stranger could always tell when Webster was at home by the cheerful looks of the people for ten miles around.—Olive Thompson Chapter in Country Life in America.

Always Successful.

When indigestion becomes chronic it is dangerous. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures indigestion and all troubles resulting therefrom thus preventing catastrophe of the stomach. Dr. Newbrough, of League, W. Va., says: "To those suffering from indigestion or sour stomach I would say there is no better remedy than Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have prescribed it for a number of my patients with good success." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and makes your stomach sweet. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

See J. R. Blake's 10c window. The bargains will surprise you.

Incredible Bravery.

It would have been incredible bravery if Chas. F. Lemberger, of Syracuse, N. Y., had not done the best he could for his suffering son. "My boy," he says, "went a fearful gash over his eye so I applied Backen's Arnica Salve, which quickly healed it and saved his eye." Good for burns and ulcers too. Only 25c at Jackson Drug Co.

Gifts at Baptisms.

Gifts to infants at their baptism are of ancient origin. Formerly the sponsors generally offered gilt spoons to the child. These spoons were called baptismal spoons because the figures of the twelve apostles were carved at the top of the handles. Rich sponsors the complete set of twelve, while those who were not so opulent furnished a single spoon. In the latter case the handle of the spoon generally exhibited the figure of any saint in honor of whom the child received its name. It is in allusion to this custom that when Crumpler professed to be unworthy of being sponsor to the young, Princess Shakespeare jocosely king reply:

Come, come, my lord;

You'd spare your spoons.

The mug or spoon and fork offering of the present day appears as a very debased survival of a really beautiful christening offering.

Orbits of Dog Days.

According to the generally accepted doctrine the dog days begin on July 3 and end on Aug. 11, but there have been disputes as to every possible point about them. It was universally agreed that they were connected with the dog star, Sirius, or Procyon, the Little Dog? Then there were disagreements as to the particular astronomical performance of the star that fixed the dog days; as to their number, which varied in different estimates between thirty and fifty-four; and whether they were to be reckoned before, after or around the star's performance. The forty settled on provide the dog star, Sirius, with the sun. A better crowd up that in these days dogs want mud, but terrestrial dogs have really nothing to do with it. The original belief was that the star and sun together brought intense heat and all sorts of plagues.—London Chronicle.

Startling Mortality.

Statistics show startling mortality, from appendicitis and peritonitis. To prevent and cure these awful diseases there is just one reliable remedy, Dr. King's New Life Pills. M. Plannery, of 14 Custom House Place, Chicago, says: "They have no equal for constipation and biliousness." 25c at Jackson Drug Company.

Antarctic Penguins.

Some of the penguins in the antarctic regions weigh as much as eighty pounds and are about four feet high, with a splendid orange patch on the neck. The young take three years to develop fully, and even then the plumage is distinctly less brilliant than in the older birds. Both the movements and preparation of the penguins are remarkable. When first followed the bird proceeds to walk, but when in danger of being caught it drops on to its abdomen and with the help of its wings glides at a pace too great to be overtaken by a man walking. They seem aware of the movements of the great ice fields and use them to help their navigation to the park ice in the north. They take trouble to collect stones, which they delight to steal from one another's piles, for nests.

Many of the ways of the penguins are suggestive of preserved instincts. Their attitude when sleeping is modeled on that of birds with fully developed wings. But the penguin has to be content with reaching the shelter of his wing with no more than the tip of his beak.

Best For Children.

Mothers, be careful of the health of your children. Look out for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Stop them in time—One Minute Cough Cure is the best remedy, harmless and pleasant. Contains no opiate. A. L. Spafford, postmaster at Chester, Mich., says: "Our little girl was unconsciously taking a sudden and terrible attack of croup. Three doses half an hour apart of One Minute Cough Cure speedily cured her. Sold by Jackson Drug Co."

J. R. Blake has fitted up a live and ten cent window in his store. Every article a bargain.

Day Dreaming.

It is much easier to fancy what we should like to have, what position we should like to fill and how we should act in different circumstances surrounded by than it is to put forth the efforts and self-denial necessary to make such attainments. A proportion of life is consumed in this manner. This habit is justly called day dreaming, for as in sleep the brain, deprived of the power of will to direct it, weaves cobwebs that the first breath of consciousness dispels, so in this listless condition the mind, uncontrolled and unguided, brings forth specious fancies that reason, when fully aroused, will utterly dissipate. These day dreams are sometimes defended on the ground that if useless they are at least harmless; that if they confer no benefit they do no injury. This, however, cannot be the case. Nothing occupies so neutral a position. Uselessness is of itself an injury, but besides this habit of idle reverie produces positive evils. Valuable time is wasted, energy is frittered away, the mind is enfeebled, the activities are discouraged, the present active life is rendered tame and listless.

Jumping.

Jumping to the ground from a height, jumping from the ground over a height and long jumping may be either harmless or highly injurious, according to the way in which one jumps. The human brain cannot stand force. When it receives them it is injured, although the injury may not be felt for years. Headache, giddiness, sleeplessness, neuritis and a whole host of other departures from health may be set up by jarring the brain. In jumping the great danger is not to the legs. The part chiefly risked is the head. When the feet touch the ground the shock passes up the limbs and spinal column, the parts above serving as buffers and so preventing the parts below being thrown too greatly in the upward direction. But the head has nothing above it; hence the shock may dislocate the neck or fracture the skull. One should always alight on the toes and with the legs slightly bent. This position greatly helps to prevent jarring.

A Remedy Without a Peer.

"I had Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets more beneficial than any other remedy I ever used for stomach trouble," says J. P. Klotz, of Edina, Mo. For any disorder of the stomach, biliousness or constipation, these Tablets are without a peer. For sale by Jackson Drug Co.

Binger and Wind.

Making a ringer in the pitching of quips must have been a part of the training which made the English longbowmen so terrible in siege duty by gauging the distance and taking the ray of the wind they could send up a deadly volley at the exact angle to drop their arrows with destructive force into the heart of a beleaguered city. Getting the lay of the wind is the first thing to be learned in the noble art of pitching horseshoes. If the wind be contrary, the arrow will be in vain. It is only a supreme master of the game, a dazzling genius in its mathematics, who can play against the wind—that is to say, one who, if the wind be from the east, can, by throwing at exactly that degree of an oblique angle needed to make the wind fall at the point opposite the goal, may hope to have it carried to the right spot.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Original.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. Jackson Drug Co.

Ancient Indian Observatory.

At Jeypore, the pleasant, healthy capital of one of the most prosperous independent states of Rajputana, India, is the famous Jantar or observatory, the largest of the five built by the celebrated royal astronomer, Jai Singh, the founder of Jeypore, who succeeded the rajahs of Amber in 1686.

Chosen by Muhammad Shah to reform the calendar, his astronomical observations were formulated in tables which corrected those of De la Hire. He built five observatories, at Delhi, Benares, Aludra, Ujjain and Jeypore.

It is not under cover, but is an open courtyard, full of curious and fantastic instruments invented and designed by him. They have been allowed to go out of repair, and many of them are now quite useless. It being impossible even to guess what purpose they served in the wonderfully accurate calculations and observations of their inventor, but the dial, gnomons, quadrants, etc., still remain of great interest to astronomers.—Scientific American.

A Clear Complexion and Bright Eyes.

In most cases a sallow, blotched complexion and dull heavy eyes are due to poor digestion and inactive liver. Orin's Laxative Fruit Syrup aids digestion and stimulates the liver and bowels and makes the complexion smooth and clear. Orin's Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or grip and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. Jackson Drug Co.

Raw White Potatoes For Inflamed Eyes.

The writer wishes to testify, from his own experience, to the efficacy of the raw white potato when used for irritated and inflamed eyes. It is used as follows, but must not be exercised not to let the juice of the potato come in contact with any cloth or clothing, which it will ruin by turning black. The potato to be used should be pared and then scraped with a spoon into small fragments and a little water added. This should be laid upon a cloth which has been placed over the eyes, and then the patient should open and close his eyes as much as possible so as to allow the liquid to have its effect directly upon the eyeball. The patient will find great relief in this effective but inexpensive treatment. Of course the patient must be careful to keep the potato juice from coming in contact with a red lining position.—Stanley R. Wallbridge in Detroit News-Tribune.

Suffering the Blow.

A young Virginia woman who was very ill was approached by her colored servant, who said, "Miss May, mah mother dun had a cousin what had de same ailment what you dun got?" "Is that so, Cora?" replied the lady. "Yes, sir," responded Cora, encouraged, "but mah mother's cousin she died, 'dead she did.' "Well, Cora," said her mistress, angry that she should tell her such a tale at such an inopportune time, "if that's all you have to say to me you can leave the room and don't come in again. I don't want to hear such stories." Cora was thoroughly frightened at what she had done and wished to annihilate her ill chosen story, so she thought for a moment and, turning to go, said, "Well, Miss May, mah mother told me she died mighty easy."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Aids Nature.

Medicines that aid nature are always most effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It allays the cough, relieves the lungs and expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by Jackson Drug Co.

Named For His Satanic Majesty.

The unfortunate disaster by which a life has been lost on the Welsh mountains known as the Devil's Kitchen has drawn attention, says the Dundee Advertiser, to the curious but seemingly universal practice of past times in naming peculiar natural formations after his Satanic majesty. It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that hardly a county in the British Isles is without some place or thing with the designation Devil, all of which descriptions are thought that his Satanic majesty must be a holder of a considerable amount of property on this terrestrial globe. The Devil's Punch Bowl, the Devil's Belows, the Devil's Beef Tub, the Devil's Frying Pan, the Devil's Lake, the Devil's Dike, the Devil's Churn, are a few instances which occur at random, scattered about in various parts of the country.

Made Red Hair Fashionable.

The French painter who won attention for his red headed girls cannot be classed among the great masters, but he made red hair fashionable and is said to have been responsible for the peroxide blond. Not until Heener introduced his sweetly brown and red women to the art world did pink and white head find it was insipid to be fair. Red heads extinguished the blond cendree, and even the dark haired "washed" their locks until they were of the desired Heener colorings and acquired "rouge" that were so warmly drawn attention. The latest skin Heener's pictures may be said to have apotheosized the much derided "carrot head." He saw red and made it "heavenly brown."

Cured of Lame Back After 15 Years of Suffering.

"I had been troubled with lame back for 15 years and I found a complete recovery in the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says John G. Bisher, Guilford, Ind. This balm is also without an equal for sprains and bruises. It is for sale by the Jackson Drug Co.

Young Falcons at School.

The young of falcons and hawks are well trained by their parents. From the time they are strong enough to pull at and break up the quailies brought to them it is one long course of instruction. The old birds know perfectly well what the young ones will have to do, and they get them to do it as soon as they can. They compel them to take longer flights day after day and teach them how to stoop—that is, strike at their quarry. One or the other will shoot up with a portion of feather or, it may be, fur, followed by the young hopefuls. Then the morsel is dropped from the clutch. Down they dash for it, and the one that makes the quickest stoop secures the prize before it reaches the ground. When the old birds think the young are fond of themselves, off they go. This is not a case of choice, but necessity, for they are simple minded and do not know. So well is this known in the country that it is a common thing to hear a lad say, "Them 'ere hawks has druv their young ones off."—Blackwood's Magazine.

Dr. Flu's Testimony Interesting.

Dr. Thomas Finn, of Hounsboro, Mo., who has practiced medicine for 32 years says he has used every prescription known to the profession for treatment of kidney and bladder diseases, and says he has never found anything so effective in both chronic and acute kidney and bladder trouble as Foley's Kidney Cure. It stops irregularities and builds up the whole system. Jackson Drug Co.

A COMPARISON OF ADMINISTRATIONS.

We have had so many calls for the paper containing a comparison of administrations that we have decided to reprint the article.

We have carefully examined the records now on file in the County Clerk's office, and submit below a comparison of the records of 1901, the last year of the Hagins administration, with the records of 1904, the last year of the Hargis administration:

them if you vote for a man for the highest office in the county, who stands indicted for the highest crime known to the law.

We are well satisfied with the election officers this year. We think we can have a fair election under them. Their names appear in our columns this week.

PLATFORM ADOPTED

By the People of Breathitt County in Convention Assembled.

We, the citizens of Breathitt county, in convention assembled, regardless of previous political affiliations, but with an eye single to the redemption of Breathitt county, hereby make the following declarations of principles:

"Resolved, First—That we approve the call, time and place for holding this convention.

"Second—That we believe in a free ballot and a fair count, an honest and economical administration of county affairs, equal rights to all and exclusive privileges to none, a fair deal to every man, and the redemption of Breathitt county from the misrule it has had for the past four years.

"Third—We believe that the power of the people should be supreme; that they should have a right to govern themselves, and that they should have a voice in the selection of their officers.

"Fourth—We believe in a wise and economical administration of the fiscal affairs of the county, that no more taxes should be collected than is necessary for the conduct of the government, economically administered; that unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation; that the present tax rate is exorbitant, outrageous and unjust, and should be reduced at least one-half.

"Fifth—We denounce the present county administration for its utter disregard for law and precedent; we have seen our leading citizens shot down on the streets of Jackson, and instead of the so-called officers of the law making any attempt to apprehend the murderers, they rushed to the defense of those accused of the crimes; and we condemn the foul assassinations of Dr. B. D. Cox, James Cockrill and James B. Mareum, and point with horror and scorn at those officials who quietly stood by while the victims were weltering in their own blood, without so much as raising a finger towards rendering them aid in their dying agonies, and feel assured that the time has come and is now at hand for the citizens of this blood-stained county to call a halt and place a ticket before the people to be voted for at the November election, which, if elected, can and will say that the law must be respected and rigidly enforced.

"Sixth—We have seen our paupers denied the support that is due them, and the money that should have been spent for their comfort given to men in compensation for their political turpitude.

"Seventh—We have seen our voting places so changed that it is almost impossible for some of our citizens to go to the voting places to cast their ballot. We believe that the voting places should be as near the center of the voting precincts as practicable, and easily accessible to all the voters therein.

"Eighth—We believe that the Jackson Bridge should remain in the hands of the Fiscal Court, and that the money collected should be used in paying off the debt created by building it, and we are opposed to the squandering of the money on high salaries and other extravagancies.

"Ninth—We believe that the jury service should be distributed among the citizens of all parts of the county, and that no political favoritism should be exercised in their selection.

"Tenth—We believe that the records for the public works of the county should be awarded according to law to the lowest and best bidder, and not let to certain individuals privately for pecuniary or political favors at the expense of the county.

"Eleventh—We believe that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and that the finances of Breathitt county should be put on a cash basis, and not compel claimants to wait two years or more for their money, or compel them to discount their claims in some store for merchandise at a large profit to the merchant.

"Twelfth—That we honor and applaud Henry B. Noble, the present County Superintendent for his honest and faithful endeavor to uphold the law in the administration of his official duties, and in the brave and patriotic stand he took in protecting his office from being taken from the hands of the man the people had elected.

"Thirteenth—We pledge ourselves and our candidates to work for the reforms needed and place Breathitt county on the high plane she should occupy, so that capitalists and others can come here and invest their money and develop our mineral and timber resources and feel that they have perfect protection to their lives and property; and, further, we endorse the candidates nominated here today as the Republican nominees for the respective offices for Breathitt county, and their names be placed under the Republican device, to-wit: a log cabin.

"Fourteenth—We earnestly solicit any and all of the papers of the State, regardless of their present or past political affiliations, to publish these declarations of principles.

J. B. McLAS, Chairman.
HENRY C. HURST, Secretary.

We have carefully examined the records now on file in the County Clerk's office, and submit below a comparison of the records of 1901, the last year of the Hagins administration, with the records of 1904, the last year of the Hargis administration:

While property in has increased very little, the value during this time yet you see that the amount of taxes has very greatly increased. This money comes from the pockets of the taxpayers they live on and have to know what is doing with it.

We know from experience that it took less than $10,000.00 per year to run the government of Breathitt county during our administration, and we know that it should not take any more to run it now than it did then.

We built the bridge and also made many other improvements for the county. Now, many improvements can be seen that have been made during the present administration? The records do not show where any court house, jail, bridge, or any other bond, was paid during the year 1904.

What has become of the extra

$9,000 collected in 1904? Why tax the people to death to keep up a few high salaries? Cut down the taxes and cut down the sala-

Fathers, do you love your boys?

Do you want them to grow up to be honest and respectable citizens, an honest man and your country? What do you expect of them if you vote for a man for the highest office in the county, who stands indicted for the highest crime known to the law.

We are well satisfied with the election officers this year. We think we can have a fair election under them. Their names appear in our columns this week.

PLATFORM ADOPTED

By the People of Breathitt County in Convention Assembled.

We, the citizens of Breathitt county, in convention assembled regardless of previous political affiliations, but with an eye single to the redemption of Breathitt county, hereby make the following declarations of principles:

"Resolved, First—That we approve the call, time and place for holding this convention.

"Second—That we believe in a free ballot and a fair count, an honest and economical administration of county affairs, equal rights to all and exclusive privileges to none, a fair deal to every man, and the redemption of Breathitt county from the misrule it has had for the past four years.

"Third—We believe that the power of the people should be supreme; that they should have a right to govern themselves, and that they should have a voice in the selection of their officers.

"Fourth—We believe in a wise and economical administration of the fiscal affairs of the county, that no more taxes should be collected than is necessary for the conduct of the government, economically administered; that unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation; that the present tax rate is exorbitant, outrageous and unjust, and should be reduced at least one-half.

"Fifth—We denounce the present county administration for its utter disregard for law and precedent; we have seen our leading citizens shot down on the streets of Jackson, and instead of the so-called officers of the law making any attempt to apprehend the murderers, they rushed to the defense of those accused of the crimes; and we condemn the foul assassinations of Dr. B. D. Cox, James Cookrill and James B. Marcum, and point with horror and scorn at those officials who quietly stood by while the victims were wailing in their own blood, without so much as raising a finger towards rendering them aid in their dying agonies, and feel assured that the time has come and is now at hand for the citizens of this blood-stained county to call a halt and place a ticket before the people to be voted for at the November election, which, if elected, can and will say that the law must be respected and rigidly enforced.

"Sixth—We have seen our taxpayers denied the support that is due them, and the money that should have been spent for their comfort given to men in compensation for their political turpitude.

"Seventh—We have seen our voting places so changed that it is almost impossible for some of our citizens to go to the voting places to cast their ballot. We believe that the voting places should be as near the center of the voting precincts as practicable, and easily accessible to all the voters therein.

"Eighth—We believe that the Jackson Bridge should remain in the hands of the Fiscal Court, and that the money collected should be used in paying off the debt created by building it, and we are opposed to the squandering of the money on high salaries and other extravaganzas.

"Ninth—We believe that the jury service should be distributed among the citizens of all parts of the county, and that no political favoritism should be exercised in their selection.

"Tenth—We believe that the records for the public works of the county should be awarded according to law to the lowest and best bidder, and not let to certain individuals privately for pecuniary or political favors at the expense of the county.

"Eleventh—We believe that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and that the finances of Breathitt county should be put on a cash basis, and not compel claimants to wait two years or more for their money, or compel them to discount their claims in some store for merchandise at a large profit to the merchant.

"Twelfth—That we honor and applaud Henry B. Noble, the present County Superintendent, for his honest and faithful endeavor to uphold the law in the administration of his official duties, and in the brave and patriotic stand he took in protecting his office from being taken from the hands of the man the people had elected.

"Thirteenth—We pledge ourselves and our candidates to work for the reforms needed and place Breathitt county on the high plane she should occupy, so that capitalists and others can come here and invest their money and develop our mineral and timber resources and feel that they have perfect protection to their lives and property; and, further, we endorse the candidates nominated here today as the Republican nominees for the respective offices for Breathitt county, and their names be placed under the Republican device, to-wit: a log cabin.

"Fourteenth—We earnestly solicit any and all of the papers of the State, regardless of their present or past political affiliations, to publish these declarations of principles.

J. B. MCLEAN, Chairman.
HENRY C. HUNST, Secretary.

A CARD FROM S. S. TAULBEE.

Editor News:

In an article in the Hustler last week headed "Who Is the Owner?" a mortgage from myself to F. W. Fletcher was printed. Now, I wish to have space to explain this transaction.

Paul Schuster sued me in the United States Court for damages and claiming a tract of land on which I purchased the timber from Jack Wireman, on Spring Fork of Quicksand creek, in this county. I was pressed with other suits which were being prosecuted by F. W. Fletcher, who represents the Breathitt Coal, Iron & Lumber Co., as well as this suit. Mr. Fletcher's attorney, J. J. C. Bach, made a proposition to me that if I would give them $2,500 they would compromise this suit, the timber being tied up was going to waste, and in order to protect myself and family, and upon the advice of my attorneys, I compromised the suit and gave the mortgage published in the Hustler to settle this suit, and this compromise was made in the office of J. J. C. Bach, who rents from the Hargis Brothers.

I do not believe there is any one of intelligence in this county who will or does believe I am, or have been, under the influence of Mr. Fletcher or his crowd. Our interests have been antagonistic for more than two years. I have fought for the people's interests in court and out of court. I have always fought land sharks and land grabbers who come in here claiming under old patents, endeavoring to rob the people of their homes and the lands on which their fathers and mothers were raised, and whose grandparents settled this country, cleared the lands and fought the fight that made it possible for you and I to live here.

I have always been on the people's side and I am now engaged in a fight against desperate men for the good of the citizens of Breathitt county, and I am persuaded that there are enough good men in this county, who are opposed to crime and corruption, to elect me to the position to which I aspire.

The people of Breathitt county believe in a fair deal, the protection of the home, shielding their daughters and wives, in the enforcement of the law without fear or favor, and to such we make our appeal for justice.

Ask El. Stacy who the Breathitt Coal, Iron & Lumber Co. owns.

Respectfully,
S. S. TAULBEE.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

To Nominate Candidates for the Municipal Offices Called for Saturday, September 30.

The Republicans of Jackson precinct No. 1 are hereby called to meet in mass convention at the court house in the town of Jackson on Saturday, September 30, at 10 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Police Judge and other municipal offices of said town, to be voted for at the November election, 1905. All Democrats, young men becoming of age before said election and voters of other parties who do not affiliate with us on party lines but who are in favor of an honest and economical administration of city affairs, the enforcement of law, and a fair and impartial deal to every man, are hereby invited to attend and help us select a ticket to this end.

Given under my hand this September 16th, 1905.

Baker preached a fine discourse to a large assembly of people who listened to his good words very attentively. Rev. Caudill also spoke. Rev. Preston conducted a short song service.
